

K-love is the only station I really listen to anymore. It keeps me focused on the thing that matters most "God" and helps me especially when I am here at college in Omaha. K-love is super fantastic because it gives others the chance to hear good news and not about people's sexual desires like most music today. P.s. and this is from a college gal. K-Love is a music refuge on the radio and is really important for the people of Omaha to have the chance to hear! :)
